Mosaic

The council has bought the data used in this section from a commercial organisation, Experian. If the findings are used in other documents then this source must be acknowledged and copyright quoted in the following way: Mosaic data 2010 © Copyright 2004 Experian Ltd

• Experian's Mosaic data brings together a large amount of data about areas and individual households from a variety of sources to classify all households according to 15 Groups and 67 Types. Experian does not claim one hundred percent accuracy for this product but it is does use strong correlations to arrive at good predictions about the nature of each household in the borough. The classifications are highly detailed but summed up with a headline phrase.
